

Announcement of a session on “67th ICORR Corrosion Science Symposium”

Don't forget...abstract submission deadline: January 16, 2026!

The Institute of Corrosion is delighted to announce that the 67th Corrosion Science Symposium (CSS) will be held as a parallel session within EUROCORR 2026.

The CSS is the Institute's flagship annual meeting for students and early career researchers working across all areas of corrosion science and engineering. Following the success of previous joint meetings, this year's symposium will continue to foster interdisciplinary collaboration and provide a platform for emerging researchers to present their work to an international audience.

CSS participants will benefit from the broader EUROCORR programme, while engaging with a focused community of corrosion scientists. We particularly encourage early career researchers and postgraduate students to submit abstracts and take part in this vibrant and supportive event.

Session organiser(s):

Julian Wharton

Institute of Corrosion (ICorr)

Expected duration: >1 day

Expected audience: <30 persons

Please submit your abstract online via www.eurocorr.org before the deadline. We are looking forward to your contribution and participation in EUROCORR 2026, on September 6-10, 2026, in Dublin, Ireland!